

Campaign Fellow

The Ben Sigel For Congress campaign is seeking hard-working, self-motivated individuals to join the campaign as a campaign fellows for the Spring/Summer of 2020. Candidates should be current students or recent graduates who are looking to gain political experience. Campaign Fellows will learn how to execute a professional campaign plan, fundraising program, communications strategy, and engage various aspects of the campaign on team projects.

The Campaign Fellow will assist the campaign team in implementing all aspects of the campaign strategy:

- Field Operations
- Fundraising, Donor Research
- Plan, develop and implement events
- Conduct press and voter outreach
- Assist in social media strategy
- Campaign Research

Application Requirements:

- Strong communication skills required
- Computer skills (Excel, Word) required
- Interest in politics, campaigns, and willingness to learn
- Access to laptop and reliable transportation

This Fellowship will introduce participants to all aspects of a modern Congressional campaign. In the process, Fellows will build quintessential fundraising, database, writing, and communication skills useful in a variety of full-time positions in politics and beyond. This Fellowship is unpaid, but course credit can be arranged.

To apply, email resume to info@bensigelforcongress.com with the subject including your name and the job title.

Equal Opportunity Employer

The Ben Sigel for Congress campaign recognizes the importance in diversity and inclusion and is committed to fostering a diverse, welcoming and inclusive staff at all levels of the organization. Ben Sigel for Congress is an equal opportunity employer.